Getting started...

To celebrate fifty years of the London Borough of Hounslow and develop local talent in the creative industries, Spark! in partnership with the local authority, Sky Skills Studios and Picnic Films are launching The Young Filmmakers Competition to challenge the creativity of teams of KS4 and KS5 students from schools and colleges around the borough. The short films will recognise the contribution of five Hounslow charities and small businesses.

The challenge

Pitch your idea to produce a short film for one of five Hounslow charities and small businesses. The short films can be in any format: drama, documentary, comedy or any other format you imagine. We're looking for creative responses and your pitch will be judged by a panel including representatives from Sky, Spark! and Hounslow Council. The five winning teams will get to produce their films over Easter 2013 with a professional independent production company, Picnic Films.

Eligibility checklist

Before you get stuck into the briefing pack be sure you can answer YES to the following three questions...

1. Have you formed your Young Filmmakers Competition team? We recommend a team of about five.
2. Has your team been booked onto or attended any one of the Sky Skills Studio twilight sessions: 5th, 6th, 7th, 11th or 12th March 2013 from 5-7pm? If you answered YES to all three questions you are ready to proceed. Good luck and we look forward to seeing you on 22nd March 2013 ready to pitch your ideas.

Terms of your child's involvement

The terms and conditions for your child's involvement are attached to this letter. Your child will not be allowed to participate unless this form has been signed and brought with them on the day they attend the twilight session.

This will be an unforgettable learning experience for all pupils involved.

Sky Skills Studios

Here is some important information that you need to agree to before your child visits Sky Skills Studios. It is important that Sky Skills Studios receive this signed form on arrival so that your child can take part in this fun and inspiring experience.

GSK House, 980 Great West Rd, Brentford TW8 9GS
www.sparklondon.org

At Sky Skills Studios, your child will be working in a team of students from their class or school group to produce a section of a filmed report. Depending on what role (producer, director, camera operator, reporter, script writer, editor) they perform, they may appear on camera. We want your child to be able to share their unique and exciting experience with you after their visit, so we will provide a USB wristband loaded with the TV report that their group has produced. You are responsible for how you and your child share this video online and Sky accepts no responsibility for where the video is shared and any comments that are posted by users as a result of you or your child posting it online.

Due to the large number of young people that will visit Sky Skills Studios, we are unable to offer payment or other benefits as a result of participation and you or your child will not receive a credit for this piece of work. We are also unable to allow participants or parents/carers right of approval for the content produced, hosted online and provided on USB. It will be the responsibility of Sky and the teacher/group leader to ensure all content created and hosted online and provided on USB is suitable for purpose and in good taste. In the case that we believe the content produced not to be in good taste or unsuitable for distribution for any reason, we reserve the right to withhold the USBs.

Sky will maintain ownership of the content produced by your child and the rights associated with this content, wherever it is distributed. All copyright, trademarks and all other intellectual property rights in all material or content supplied as part of the Sky Skills programme belongs to Sky, including the contents produced by your child's group which will be provided on USB. You agree that neither you nor your child may use it for any commercial purpose or in a way which may reasonably be expected to be harmful to Sky.

We want to make sure every young person has the best experience possible and this means we may need to collect personal information about your child to deliver the experience safely and effectively. Your child's teacher will be responsible for letting us know if your child has any special requirements relating to their health, allergies, disability or behaviour that can help us give them the best possible experience at Sky Skills Studios. This and other personal information will be used to facilitate your child's participation in the Sky Skills Studios experience and to ensure the experience can be run safely and effectively for all participants. Sky will not use any information relating to your child to market commercial products or services.

We have created Sky Skills Studios to help your child's learning and development and we will never use the content created by them for commercial purposes except occasionally to promote Sky Skills Studios. If this is the case, we will always consult the teacher or group leader to seek permission in advance, and in these instances we might edit the footage to suit the purpose of the promotion.

If you have any questions relating to any aspect of the Sky Skills experience, please direct these to Ruby Mir at Spark! and we will endeavour to provide them with information to answer them.

By signing this letter I confirm that I have read the above information regarding my child's visit to Sky Skills Studios and consent to all aspects included in the paragraphs above.

The Musical Museum began its life in 1963 when it was first registered as a charity as a museum in St Georges Church in Brentford High Street. Its founder Frank Holland used his private collection of musical instruments and music rolls as the nucleus of the museum and rapidly assembled a wide range of instruments to form the backbone of the museum standing today.

Over the past fifty years the face of Brentford High Street has changed dramatically and the museum has moved premises from the church to a new purpose built building with funding from the National Heritage Lottery. Since it reopened in November 2007 the museum has attracted visitors for guided tours, concerts and films. It has been involved with schools, families and older members of borough through the Hounslow Over 50's festival.

Preparing your pitch

Getting your team ready to wow the judging panel

In the first part of the briefing pack you will have read about the five charities and small businesses that need your inspirational ideas to help tell their story through a short film. You may propose to create a film in a drama, documentary, comedy or any other format you imagine. It can be a maximum of 3 minutes in length. We're looking for creative responses!

The questions that follow will help you prepare your pitch ready to present to the judging panel on 22 March 2013. A pitch is a short presentation that may be also be supported by a short written or visual document setting out your idea for a production. Bring five copies of your pitch document to leave with the panel after you have completed your 5 minute pitch. This will be a useful reminder when they make a decision.

Make your pitch fun, inspiring and full of the creativity you would demonstrate through your short film if you win!
